Searching the Site

To search the Liberty BASIC Programmer's Encyclopedia, type the word or words desired into the textbox at the top of the page, then click the "Search" button.

Saving Articles to Disk

We recommend that you use the site as an online resource, rather than saving articles to disk. This online encyclopedia is meant to be dynamic and constantly updated. If you find an article to be valuable and you want to save a copy, follow the directions below. If you have trouble saving with your browser's "File" menu, use the method that copies the text and pastes it into Notepad, then saves it to disk. If you have trouble saving with Internet Explorer, try Mozilla's Firefox browser.

To save a single article to disk on your computer, use the "File" menu on your browser and select "Save As" then choose to save as "Web Page Complete". Alternately, you can click and drag with your mouse to select the article text, then use the "Edit" menu or the right-click menu and choose "Copy". Once the text is copied to the clipboard, you can paste it into Notepad or into your favorite word processor and save it to disk from there.

Printing Articles

To print a hard copy of a single article, click your browser's "Print" button, or select "Print" from your browser's "File" menu.

To print a hard copy of the entire Liberty BASIC Programmer's Encyclopedia, choose "Print" from your browser's "File" menu and click the "Options" tab. Select the option to "Print all linked documents."

Feedback

Feedback, including discussion, error reporting and suggestions, will continue to be taken at <http://libertybasic.conforums.com/index.cgi?board=feedback>.

We encourage feedback from our readers! Thanks.
